SUGGESTED PROCEDURES

1. Ensure the bank statements were properly reconciled with the book balance and the checkbook balance. Bank statements should first be sent to someone other than the person reconciling the accounts. Compare canceled checks (or electronic images) with cash disbursement records, verifying the check numbers, payee and amount. Verify daily deposits. Verify that the correct taxpayer ID number is used on all accounts.
2. Verify the securities (certificates of deposit, stock certificates and bonds):
 - a. Determine where the conference securities are kept, if any.
 - b. Verify all securities are in the name of the conference. The correct form of the conference name is "Midwest Conference on Masonic Education" Note: The MCME is a non-profit corporation of the State of Iowa under EIN 27-0823328.
 - c. Determine that all sales and purchases of securities or investments are approved by the proper officers.
 - d. Determine if the conference holds any property subject to restrictions imposed by any donor or trust. Verify that any applicable restrictions are adhered to.
 - e. Determine if the conference has any funds where the conference itself has imposed restrictions such as an "annuity" or a "charity fund". The conference might have the ability to change or depart from restrictions that it has imposed on itself.
 - f. Ascertain that all dividend and interest payments are received and recorded.
3. Verify the amounts in any savings accounts. Verify that interest was recorded.
4. Verify that all cash receipts were deposited in the bank account(s).
 - a. Determine if they were posted to the ledger in a timely fashion.
 - b. Ensure cash is always received and counted by two unrelated parties within the conference for verification.
 - c. Verify funds are never disbursed directly from cash receipts without first recording the same.
 - d. Verify all checks payable to the conference are to be made out to the conference or properly endorsed over to the conference accounts.
5. Ascertain if checks were correctly issued:
 - a. Determine who is authorized to write checks. All vouchers drawn on the Treasury of the Conference may be signed by the Treasurer and/or Executive Secretary.

- b. Determine who is authorized to approve invoices. Are pre-numbered requisitions with supporting invoices or other data presented to the authorized person for approval and then accompany the checks when presented for signature?
- c. Ensure items are bought and properly received by authorized persons?
- d. Determine that no checks are signed unless completely filled out. (NEVER SIGN BLANK CHECKS). (all checks issued directly from bank, no blank checks)
- e. Verify that the supply of unissued checks is controlled. (see above, no unissued checks)
- f. Determine if any checks are made payable to “Bearer” or “Cash”. If a check is made payable to an individual, they cannot be a signer on the check. (see above, all checks signed electronically under the authority of the bank and cannot be made out to cash)

6. Reconcile the Secretary’s ledger with the Treasurer’s ledger.

7. Equipment:

- a. Verify that equipment purchases and sales are authorized by the proper officers.
- b. Ensure records are maintained as to condition and location.

8. Determine if an operating budget was approved by the conference. How does it compare to the actual? Explain any variances.

9. Suggested Audit Committee Report and recording of presentation in the minutes of the Conference:

“We, the undersigned Audit Committee, having checked the revenues (incomes) and disbursements (expenses) remitted, and, after examining all accounts of the Conference, find all funds of the Conference to be in the name of the Conference and find the Treasurer’s Report to be an accurate and fair representation of the financial condition of the Conference.”
